Broadcasters' Forum Writes to DoT Over C-Band Issue

Says the spectrum can't be divided for 5G purposes

Mumbai: The Indian Broadcasting and Digital Foundation (IBDF) has written to the department of telecom (DoT) to reiterate its position that it is not possible to divide the C-band spectrum in the 3700-4200 MHz range between terrestrial 5G carriers and satellite

The letter from IBDF secretary general Siddharth Jain to DoT secretary (telecom) K Rajaraman dated June 15 follows one from the ministry of information and broadcasting (MIB) on June 8.

4200 MHz to 4000-4200 MHz.

Opposing this proposal, IBDF said low-noise blocks (LNBs) of all receivers will get overloaded and weak satellite signals will get obliterated once high-power 5G transmissions start within the current C-Band of 3,700-4,200 MHz. A large number of channels in the 3700-3800 MHz band, including the ones using GSAT satellites such as GSAT-30, will become defunct if the broadcasters are moved to the 4000-4200 MHz band, it said.

ET has seen a copy of the letter. IBDF said the government's plans to offer 300 MHz in the 3700-4200

MHz has come to a naught due to a scarcity of capacity.
The apex TV broadcast body noted that issues regarding the use of spectrum up to 3670 MHz have not yet been resolved. It added that there have been sporadic instances of disturbance in broadcast services due to interference from telecom signals. The government has allotted the 3300-3670 MHz band to telecom operators for 5G service rollout. The broadcasters had earlier sought a 100 MHz guard band between 3600 MHz and 3700 MHz for the smooth functioning of the broadcast services. The government extended the frequency
